Escape Scene

I present to you our storyboard. I draw scene 3 and 5. It took us 3 days to shoot all the scenes properly, because we used different locations and set ups to make the movie more interesting.

These were my first iterations on our storyboard. We were thinking about doing a "Movie scene" where our main characters were going to watch a movie, but we didn't find a couch and a TV for that and we decided to remove it. Instead of that we shot more scenes outside. Hanga was our actress, me and Martina were camera women and directors. Hang was also assigned to work on the script. Me and Martina added extra lines to it after that. We all were screenwriters, because we had ideas about the scenes. And all of us are editing so we can learn how to work with Premiere Pro.

Our idea was to create a movie about a student with a pet rock in interview/little story style. We were mainly inspired by "Weird addictions" videos and we did a lot of research on them. We wrote a script for the interviews with the student and recreated our story board in a little scenes. We had so much fun, especially in the park for the outdoor scenes, where people were laughing at us and enjoying our little show. After the first day of filming we were feeling like professionals. We were using tripod and camera stabiliser to prevent shaky shots (how professional 🤖). Sometimes while filming we just had to pause, because we were laughing too much. It was really interesting and we learned a lot about angles, set ups and editing. Of course like every successful movie we had to add a twist at the end, but I already spoiled enough.
